Callow Hall Country House Hotel

The Hotel:

Callow Hall is a unique country house hotel with an unrivalled setting and renowned restaurant, situated at the gateway to the Peak District National Park, close to the lively market town of Ashbourne. Surrounded by acres of private garden, fields and woodland overlooking the Bentley Brook and vale of the River Dove, this ivy-clad Victorian hotel really is a haven of peace and tranquillity but also a perfect base for exploring the splendours that Derbyshire and the 'Peaks' have to offer.

Room Options:

The hotel has sixteen bedrooms in total, all individually designed to the highest standard with comfortable furnishings and well-appointed ensuite bathrooms. Some have original Victorian features and quirks and others are more cosy and modern in style. All rooms boast flat screen televisions with satellite channels, internet access, luxurious toiletries, comfortable beds and fluffy towels.

All rooms are replenished daily with mineral water and homemade biscuits. We can of course arrange for flowers or champagne to be in the room on arrival.

Dining:

Dining at Callow Hall is an experience not to be missed! Proud of its reputation for freshly prepared and home produced food, including its home baking, smoking and curing; crafts that have been passed down through the centuries.

If staying in the hotel, breakfast is a must with our home-made sausages, home-cured bacon and home-smoked salmon, in-house jams and home-made bread.

Private Dining:

We operate three intimate dining rooms all with an individual style and atmosphere.
